A Re-Shuffle Problem For The White Sox

Since Completion Of Trading Deal With Washington Senators

NEW YORK, June 1 — (AP) — Now that the Chicago White Sox have completed their big deal with the Washington Senators, the pale horse question of the season — switches from "who's on first" to "who's on second."

Along with first-line pitcher Ray Scarborough and seasoned first sacker Ed Robinson, the Sox yesterday got second baseman Al Kozar in exchange for American League all-star second sacker Cass Michaels, pitcher Bob Kuzava and utility outfielder Johnny Ostrowski.

Michaels King-Pin Of Deal

Michaels was the king-pin of the deal. Manager Bucky Harris of the Senators admits he coveted the 24-year-old Michaels, who batted .308 last season and currently is hitting .312 this season. New manager Red Corriden of the Sox concedes it was a big sacrifice to let Michaels go and that it may take two men to fill his shoes.

As the Sox moved in to face the Yankees in the opener of an Eastern swing tomorrow night, Corriden said he would use Kozar, a right-handed batter, at second base, but might replace him with Nelson Fox, a left-handed hitter, against right-handed pitching.

Fox, only 22, was acquired from the Philadelphia Athletics last October. It was as long ago as that the Sox were reported ready to accept bidding for Michaels in the exchange market. Fox has been used only as a pinch-hitter this season, but as an able fill-in for the A's Pete Suder last season showed definite big league promise.

Kozar-Fox Combination

Kozar, who will be 28 on July 5, last year batted .269 in 105 games. General manager Frank Lane of the Sox said he felt the combination of Kozar and Fox will give the club better defensive strength at second, even though Michaels' clouting may be missed. At that, Michaels had a mark of only .265 for five full seasons with the Sox. His sudden improvement at the plate last year was credited by some club observers as due to the fatherly interest of shortstop Luke Appling, who kept Cass from fretting about his defensive play. Appling since has yielded his shortstop job to Chico Carrasquel.

If Michaels was the deal's main item for the Senators, the acquisition of Robinson and Scarborough met a crying Sox need. First base has been wide open in the pale horse camp since spring training. Fancy fielding Gordon Goldsberry is the most recent claimant to the job. Herm Reich and Charley Kress were cut loose after flings at the position and aging Appling was lined up as an emergency candidate.

If Robinson comes anywhere near matching his .294 hitting of last season, he has the first base job clinched.

How badly the White Sox needed a right-handed pitcher of Scarborough's caliber is reflected in the fact the Sox had only three of their 13 wins to date fashioned by right-handed tossing. True, Kuzava is five years younger than the 32-year-old Scarborough, but the Sox had virtually given up hope the lefty would attain the promise he displayed late last season. This season, in 4 1/3 innings for 10 games, Kuzava had yielded 43 hits, 27 runs and 23 bases on balls.

Told to Protect Runner, Street is Saved by Triple After Taking a Strike

By Gabby Street
Former major league catcher who managed the Cardinals to two pennants.

Eddie Foster was on first base when I came to bat for Washington in a game played back in 1909.

Joe Cantillon was coaching at first base, called me half way up the baseline to tell me what he intended to do.

"I'm going to send Foster down on the first ball pitched," Manager Cantillon told me. "Hit and run, but be sure to protect Foster by getting a piece of the ball."

I set myself at the plate, but just stood there looking at a perfect strike. I froze, couldn't move. Foster was thrown out by ten feet.

I imagined what I would get from Cantillon the first crack he got at me. There never was a sharper tongue. He could call you more names and still leave a good taste in your mouth, than anyone I ever knew. He was a grand fellow, but was hardly in good humor. This was one of the worst Washington clubs, running dead last.

Fortunately for me, I tripped on the next pitch, then scored the winning run.

Otherwise Cantillon would have eaten me.

Breaking in with the Reds as a kid back in 1905, I had no opportunity to catch until Manager Joe Kelley sent me to the Braves in August. All three Boston catchers were hurt.

The Braves were playing the Cubs, and they swiped 11 bases on me in seven innings. It got so they didn't even slide, just kept right on going to third.

That is what I would call a rough afternoon.

That was one of the great teams of all-time, by the way—the "from Tunker to Evers to Chance" Cubs destined to win four pennants in the next five years. It was some outfit, Schulte, Steinfeldt and that bunch.

I caught a ball thrown from the top of the Washington monument 505 feet high, Aug 21, 1908. But a much greater feat was my catching two out of three balls thrown from the 287-foot St. Louis Civil Courts tower in connection with a War Bond drive in 1945. It was a cold, raw day. A 25-mile wind was blowing and

Musial Jinx Still Working

Something puts the kibosh on Stan Musial's bat when the St. Louis Cardinal star plays the Pirates at Pittsburgh. Musial, shown here talking with his mother during an appearance in Pittsburgh, has never been able to hit in Forbes field. The Memorial day doubleheader cost Musial 27 percentage points in his batting average. His mother, Mrs. Mary Musial, lives in Donora, Pa. (AP Wirephoto)

Johnny Parsons Gets $57,458.63

INDIANAPOLIS, June 1 — (AP) — Record prizes were distributed last night to participants in this year's 500-mile Indianapolis motor speedway race.

The speedway announced at the victory dinner that the grand total of prizes reached $201,035—the first time it has passed $200,000—and that Johnny Parsons of Van Nuys, Calif., received $57,458.63 for winning the 34th annual race. Both totals are new records.

Add $58,000 Bonus

The speedway added a $58,000 bonus to its guaranteed race purse of $75,000 for a total of $133,000. The prize fund also included $8,300 in qualification prizes, $13,600 in unfunded entry fees, accessories valued at $26,125, and $20,010 in lap prizes.

The top ten prizes:

1. Johnny Parsons, Van Nuys, Calif., Wynn's friction proofing special, $57,458.63.
2. Bill Holland, Miami, Fla., Blue Crown sparkplug special, $21,898.63.
3. Mauri Rose, South Bend, Ind., Howard Keck special, $15,268.63.
4. Cecil Green, Houston, Tex., John Zink special, $10,963.63.
5. Joe Chitwood, Reading, Pa.,

the temperature was 40 degrees and I was 63 years of age. But if I live to be 163, I'll never forget taking that strike when Joe Cantillon told me to protect Eddie Foster on the hit-and-run. That was my biggest boner in baseball.

Gold Says He Didn't Want To Hurt U. S.

He Indicates To A Federal Judge He Will Plead Guilty

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—(AP)—Harry Gold, 39-year-old bio-chemist accused of divulging atom bomb secrets to Russia, told a federal judge he intended to plead guilty — but “not to the charge of meaning to hurt the United States.”

Wasn't Acting As Courier
U. S. District Judge James E. McGranery disclosed to newsmen that Gold told him he would plead guilty instead to acting as a courier for a Russian atom bomb spy ring.

“I said that before,” the judge quoted him as saying, “and I’m sticking to it. I had no intention of hurting my country.”

Judge McGranery said Gold made the statement to him in a brief conference during which the defendant asked the court to appoint counsel for him.

“Gold said he wants the right to continue to cooperate with the FBI and that he will insist upon that right,” the judge said.

The judge said he would nominate a man by tomorrow afternoon, arrange for him to consult with Gold, and if agreeable all around, appoint that man Gold's counsel.

It was Judge McGranery who ordered Gold to prison in default of $100,000 bail at a swift-pace to the Soviet Union.

hearing, called late at night, following his arrest early last week.

Gold is charged with working as the intermediary through whom Dr. Klaus Fuchs, convicted British atom spy, delivered information about the atomic bomb to the Soviet Union.

FBI men, after running down leads given them by Fuchs, arrested Gold on a warrant issued in the U. S. district court of eastern New York. It is thought he likely will be tried in New York.

Love's Too Young in France

Youthful Divorce Rate Worries Sociologists

ROMANTIC YOUTH in Paris, silhouetted against the Seine, is not producing successful marriages, say the experts, currently worried about the high rate of divorces among the young.

By Rosette Hargrove
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS — A benevolent "reconciliation" judge in a Paris divorce court was considerably shaken the other day by the couple standing before him. The husband had just turned 18; his wife was not yet 16, and there were two children.

The judge was no more startled, however, than French sociologists, who are currently worried over the high rate of divorce among the younger generation. They feel it is part of the profound social upheaval which has swept France as an aftermath of the war.

Experts figure that 40,000 of the 56,882 divorces granted in 1947, an all-time high, were due to homes disrupted by war and by the return of war prisoners. There was also a backlog that year, since between 1941 and 1946, no divorce could be made absolute until three years had elapsed.

Since then, the divorce rate has dropped to about 15,000 a year, a figure that might not seem high for a population of 40,500,000 were it not against French tradition.

Youthful marriages, coupled with a housing shortage that makes it necessary for many young middle-class couples to live with their families, are what sociologists feel cause today's upheaval.

In normal times no middle-class Frenchman ever considered marriage before he had completed his military service and embarked on a lifetime career, which meant that most men married between 25 and 30. By this time parents felt, he had sown his wild oats and was ready to settle down to family responsibilities.

Older people reason that this is why so few of today's under-20 marriages are successful. But modern parents apparently are being over-ruled by their children, since written parental consent is required until the age of 21. No Frenchman can marry before 18, and no girl before 15.

To obtain a divorce in France entails as much legal formality as it does to get married. This apparently is no deterrent to the thousand or more couples who each month flood the divorce courts.

Once proceedings are started, however, a divorce can be obtained in less than two months, after which the woman must resume her maiden name and wait 300 days before she can re-marry. But before the case goes to the Tribunal, each couple must appear before a "reconciliation" judge. Sometimes it works.

French divorces are relatively cheap for the middle-class. The average legal fee is about $80, and for applicants in the minimum-salary class, the state provides a lawyer free of charge, the only cost being a few dollars for court fees.

There is no publicity except for a notice of every divorce posted outside the court; the press is forbidden to report proceedings. And the Frenchman gets a break on alimony, which can never exceed one-third of his salary or income.

One silver lining to the divorce cloud is the steady increase of marriages and births since 1947. The marriage rate now stands at 240 per 10,000 people, as against a pre-war average of 150. Births hit an all-time high in 1948 with 864,000, showing a definite increase over deaths.

Water in the Middle Fork of the Clearwater river, Id., varies in color from deep black to pale blue and green.

One part of monoxide gas to 10,000 parts of air is enough to prove fatal.

Most Governors Serve Four Years
CHICAGO—(AP)—Being governor now is a four year job in most states. New Jersey extended the tenure from three to four years in 1948. Connecticut will lengthen the lease on the office from two to four years next January. By that time, says the Council of State Governments, 23 states will have four-year governors. The others have two year terms.

Perilous Gallantry
CHICAGO—(AP)—Police Lieutenant Thomas McCann saw the old lady on the platform of a sixth side railroad station. He perceived that she was afraid to come down to the street level because the stairs were wet. The gallant officer went up and helped the lady descend safely to the sidewalk. But on the last step he slipped, fell and sprained his back.

Installation Plan Fines
AUSTIN, Texas—(AP)—County Judge Mace Thurman is letting first offenders in his court pay their fines on the installment plan. "Where the defendant has a job and is able to pay bit by bit, we think it's better than having him lie in jail," he said. The judge lets those who plead guilty pay out their fines at $3 a day.

The Bride's Mother Finds Budget Fashions

These handsome dresses for the bride's mother are moderately priced and carefully styled to flatter the mature figure. For the formal church wedding, (center) the mother wears a gown of pink chiffon with a tunic-style top of pink lace. For the informal wedding (left), she models a two-piece dress of gray silky rayon mesh. The snug jacket is fastened with gleaming steel buttons. Decorative yoke of pearl-embroidered gray marquisette highlights the gray crepe dress (right) which is appropriate for the semi-formal wedding.

Community News from Green Ridge

By Mrs. Verna Palmer

The Green Ridge P.T.A. met on Friday, May 19, at the school building. Business conducted pertained to the food stand to be built for the Green Ridge community fair to be held this fall. The committees plan to finish their projects this summer, that of repairing the swings and getting some new equipment for the grade school children. The new officers for the coming year were installed by Mrs. Allen Kendrick and Mrs. Vernon Arnett. Officers elected and installed were: President, Mrs. Allen Kendrick; vice-president, Mrs. Harriet Harbit; secretary, Mrs. Harriet Williams; treasurer, Mrs. Ralph Chaney; and Mrs. C. A. Wisdom. The following committees were appointed for next year: Program committee, Mrs. Harriet Williams, Mrs. Carl Johnson and Mrs. E. S. Close; membership committee, Mrs. Vernon Arnett and Mrs. Robert Needy; hospitality committee, Miss Grace Still and Mrs. Russell Miller; project committee, Mrs. Loy Smith, Mrs. Glen Morrow, Mrs. Allen Kendrick, Mrs. George Weller, Mrs. Earl Embree, Mrs. Russell Pace, Mrs. Gordon Brown, Mrs. Emory Brown; National Parent-Teachers magazine committee, Mrs. Forrest M. Miller; historian, Mrs. Wilfred Hollenbeck. The April program was presented by Mrs. Carl Johnson, Mrs. Glen Morrow, Rev. R. I. Clemings and Rev. Willis Chaney. The program consisted of talks and reviews of articles concerning responsibility of children, religion in a community, problems of teen-agers and care of pre-schoolers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Vivian of San Leandro, Calif., announce the birth of a daughter, born May 11. Mrs. Vivian is a twin sister of Mrs. Oren Chappell of Sedalia and was the former Miss Evelyn Purchase. Mr. and Mrs. George Purchase of Zillah, Wash., are the grandparents of the new arrival. The Mutual Improvement club met Saturday afternoon, May 20, in the home of Mrs. Clarence Mahin, northeast of Green Ridge. Mrs. Carl Johnson was assistant hostess. The home was decorated with spring flowers and interesting plants. The members and guests were served a fine gelatin salad and fruit juice. During the business meeting, Mrs. Glen Morrow was appointed chairman of a committee to plan a children's music contest in connection with the community fair to be held this fall in Green Ridge. Mrs. Loy Smith is chairman of the blue ribbon baby contest for the community fair. Roll call was answered by an interesting fact about Pettis county. Mrs. Loy Smith presented a program on the "History of Pettis County." Mrs. Myrtle Morris of Mt. Sterling, and formerly of Green Ridge spoke of historical events in Green Ridge prior to the Civil War, which was hearsay to her from stories handed down in her family. She then told of post war days as she actually experienced life in the early days of Green Ridge. Mrs. Morris emphasized the fact that at one time Green Ridge was quite a bustling center of activity. Mrs. Allen Kendrick made additional comments on the Green Ridge of yesterday. Guests other than Mrs. Morris were Mrs. Earl Hinkin, also of Mt. Sterling. There were fifteen members present.

The following IOOF members and neighbors gathered at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Billings, northeast of Green Ridge, on Thursday, May 18, and plowed, disked and planted corn: W. L. Whittall, Ted Kearn, Waldo Harbit, Walter Brown, Harley Williams, Rolla Ulmer, Bob Needy, Price Ruffin, Lloyd Brown, Buddy Whittall, Loy Smith, Jim Reed and Elmer Bulla. The following ladies brought food and helped serve dinner for the men: Mrs. W. L. Whittall, Mrs. B. F. Whittall, Mrs. Annie Brown, Mrs. Lucille Sanders, Mrs. Rolla Ulmer, Mrs. Ted Kearn, Mrs. Elmer Bullard and Miss Nellie Jones. Mr. Billings has entered the Veterans Administration hospital at Wadsworth, Kas., for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ashley and children, Richard and Mary Beth, of Orrick, Mo., moved the first of last week to Green Ridge. They are residing in the residence property of Mrs. W. H. Purchase. Mr. Ashley has been employed to teach in the Green Ridge schools this coming year.

Auxiliary Unit 491 of the American Legion met in regular session at Bennett hall in Green Ridge on Monday night, May 22. The president, Mrs. H. C. Hoover, presided over the meeting during which plans for supplying flowers for Memorial Day services in Green Ridge were discussed and a committee appointed to take charge of it. Poppy Day plans were also made and poppies distributed to the members to be sold in Green Ridge on Friday and Saturday, May 26 and 27. Following the business meeting, the hostesses, Mrs. Quintin Binder and Mrs. Royal Ragar entertained with games and served refreshments of peach short cake topped with whipped cream and ice tea to twelve members and five children. The members of the Green Ridge Extension club were guests of the LaMonte Extension club on Friday of last week at the home of Mrs. Emmett E. Brown, a former Green Ridge resident. Those attending from the Green Ridge club were: Mrs. E. H. Boltz, of Ionia, Mrs. George White, Mrs.

Royal Ragar, and Mrs. Mattie Myers. Mrs. Roy Johnson of Kansas City, was also a guest in the Brown home that day.

Larry Johnson of Pendleton, Ore., arrived last Wednesday morning in Green Ridge to join his wife and daughter who have been visiting at the homes of relatives for the past two weeks. Before returning to their home in Oregon with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Rayburn and Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Johnson and other relatives. Fifteen members of Guiding Star Chapter No. 308, Order of the Eastern Star visited the Leeton chapter of that organization on Friday night of last week. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ragar, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gordon, Mrs. Charles H. Ward, Mrs. W. S. Stark, Mrs. D. D. Davis, Mrs. Alvie Lett, Mrs. Royal Ragar, Mrs. L. B. Beach, Mrs. Eldon Brown, of Beaver, Okla. Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn White, Mrs. Orland Hampton and Miss Rosalea Stark.

DON'T MISS IT! TREND'S 1c Sale

Two packages for price of one—plus 1¢

Try TREND on this special offer. You'll marvel at suds that last and last... and glassware that is left so free of film it shines like crystal without wiping. Buy TREND today at this bargain price.

Guarantee
TREND is fully guaranteed to do a faster, better job of washing greasy dishes, pots and pans than any dishwashing soap you can buy—or double your money back. If you are not entirely satisfied, return the unused portion to your grocer. He is authorized to refund double your purchase price.

IN YOUR DISHPAN or double your money back!

TREND, the scientists say, has the finest "grease-stripping" action ever developed. It gets right under the grease on dishes, pots and pans—right under dried egg and cereal—strips it off like magic. Prove it yourself. Buy TREND today.

MILDER THAN PURE SOAP

Patch tests, made on women's skin, show that TREND is milder for your skin than the purest soap. And why not? TREND is neutral. Imagine a dishwashing suds that cuts grease faster than any soap made... yet actually babies your hands!

Texas Town Takes Day in the Park--to Build One

THE DAY AFTER: On the edge of the park that was built in a day, citizens of Kerrville, Tex., relaxed beside the Guadalupe River. For how it looked the day before, see photo at right.

THE BIG DAY: Kerrville's "Build a Park in a Day" project looked like this from the air as half the town pitched in. Pontoon bridge (foreground) is the same one in photo at left.

By NEA Service

KERRYVILLE, Tex.—(NEA)—Before dawn, the diesel coughs of bulldozers and graders echoed from across the Guadalupe river to wake up the little city of Kerrville.

By 7 a. m., nearly half the city's 5,000 residents had joined the bulldozers—not as sidewalk superintendents, but as volunteer workers. And by sundown, Kerrville had a 35-acre park.

Mrs. Robert S. Hays was there to turn the first spadeful of earth, and later she watched a plate with the name "Louise Hays Park" attached at the main entrance to the tract.

Schoolboys, laborers, white collar workers and professional men—plus a lot of women—were there, too, in overalls and dungarees. Maurice Stovall, a teenage girl, took a turn at driving a big tractor. Gus McKee, superintendent of the Lower Colorado River authority, put on some old clothes and wired the master control boxes for the park's lighting system.

This was Kerrville's "Build a Park in a Day" project, and when it was over, only a few minor finishing touches remained to be done.

Along the wooded river front, which had been vacant land at dawn, there was now a 100x150 foot concrete dance floor, later to become a pavilion; two rest rooms, slides, swings, merry-go-rounds, benches, picnic tables and barbecue pits.

All this grew from a gift of oilman Robert Hays, a newcomer of Kerrville, who donated to 35-acre tract to the city with two stipulations: that it be made into a park, and that it be named for his wife, Louise.

Kerrville's citizens did the rest. They figured it would have cost about $17,000 for the same results if there had been no volunteer spirit. Instead, manpower, mechanical equipment and even gasoline to run it, were donated. Actual construction materials, such as concrete and wiring, were sold to the city at cost.

And, the day after everybody went to work, you could walk down the steps that lead from downtown Kerrville to the riverfront and step across a new pontoon bridge to the park that grew in a day.

This Sheer Summer Dress is Inexpensive and Easily Made

An easy-to-make sheer organdy dress posed over a pretty eyelet embroidered slip is a charming costume for graduation day or summer parties. Inset sketches show the simple pattern for dress made from five yards of organdy. Scraps left over from cutting out bodice (top sketch) are used for waistband. Four yard skirt is shirred to waistband. Dress is left open in front.

NEW YORK — Recipe for a cool summer costume at a tiny price is to take a pretty slip made to show, and to frost it with a sheer organdy coat-dress you can make yourself.

The girl who has less than $10 to splurge on a graduation dress can create an ensemble which yields nothing in fashion interest to higher-priced dresses. Good choice for her is an inexpensive white cotton slip with a camisole top and eyelet embroidery trim. Over this goes the sheer white organdy coat dress made from

Mrs. Lucene Klein left Monday for a week's visit with her son Mr. and Mrs. Roger Klein and family at Stanberry.

Gerald Parker of Sweet Springs arrived Friday for a visit with Jimmy Young and other friends.

Mrs. Robert Tyler of Sedalia spent the last week-end of May 20th with Mrs. W. L. Layne.

Mrs. Glenn Ripley is home after the closing the past week of the Smithton school where she has taught the past year.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Bascoe have returned home from St. Maries, Idaho, where they visited their daughter, Mrs. H. C. Biersdorf and family.

five yards of 36-inch material. The dress is simply styled with a round, collarless neckline, short sleeves cut in one piece with the bodice and a full-gathered skirt. Because it is open in front and requires no intricate fitting, the dress is easy for beginning seamstress to make. The top is cut out of one yard of organdy. Scraps left over are doubled and pieced together to make the waistband. Skirt is made by shirring four yards of organdy to the waistband. Raw edges are bound with bias binding.

If more color is desired switch the color of the slip. Lingerie manufacturers offer slips of similar design in lovely pastel colors. Or tie a colored velvet ribbon around the waist of the dress. Sprigged dimity, dotted swiss or pastel-lined organdy make a pretty substitute for white organdy used for the dress.

Rooftops Lose Their Romance In French Housing Shortage

UNDER THE ROOFTOPS of Paris could be plenty of living space to help in the current housing crisis. But under the rooftops also are lots of leaks; most of them need an army of workmen like this to make the once romantic "garrets" livable.

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS — (NEA) — France' top post-war problem is still her crucial housing shortage. She is short 5,000,000 homes and the several billion francs needed to build them.

Five years after the war the problem remains as the nightmare of politicians and the besetting worry of thousands of Frenchmen. To sociologists trace:

1. The increase of social evils leading with juvenile delinquency.
2. The menace to the nation's health due to overcrowding.
3. The disruption of marriages which end in divorce.

Contrary to popular belief, the second world war destroyed more homes than the previous one. Of a total of 12,000,000 "hearths" which represented France's housing capital in 1939, 560,000 were completely destroyed and 540,000 badly damaged. And during 1945-1949 only 90,000 homes were built, as against 600,000 in England.

Since liberation, each of France's successive governments has been faced with this headache. Each mapped out a project which it was never given time to carry through.

The latest project covers the building of 240,000 homes yearly over a period of 50 years, which experts consider is short by 60,000 homes a year.

The shortage of building materials, a major cause for delay until 1948, no longer exists. "Insufficient credits" is the new cry of the building trade. "Too much red tape," says the individual houseowner, who would take matters in his own hands, but can't get a mortgage loan the way he could in America.

In Paris, the romance of the rooftops has diminished for the people who have to live beneath them.

Any Paris architect or apartment house owner will tell you that most of these beautiful old roofs are badly in need of repair. This also contributes to the housing shortage. The "garret" floor in many buildings could have afforded temporary shelter to homeless people until such time as the building project got under way provided, naturally, that they were weather-proof. Which they are not.

There is a tragicomic side to house-hunting in France and more especially in Paris. For the well-to-do citizen the situation is acute but not insoluble. It is merely a question of "key money" (it is called doortstep money in French), illegal, but practiced every day.

But for Jean Dupont it is almost hopeless. If he is an optimist he will try and work through the official "Housing Office."

The red tape there, however, has defeated all but a small number of people who have friends in high quarters.

With the rental law under which all 1939 rents are to be progressively raised seven times their original rate, it is hoped that many "insufficiently occupied" apartments will have to be vacated.

Even so, rents in France and especially in Paris are still away below the levels in other countries. There are many people to-day who spend more on cigarettes

In Junior Gangland, 'Nobody Quits'

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

The cocky youngsters below, still defiant after their arrest as a result of teen-age gang burglaries in Kansas, typify the attitude of junior gangs running wild in the nation's cities today. Here's the second of four dispatches that tell the story of teens on the rampage in America, how the gangs operate, what authorities think is the cause, and what they think can be done about it.

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

It was eight o'clock in the morning and 17-year-old Freddie Horton was walking to work in Brooklyn. He never got there. When he came to a street corner, two other boys approached him.

"Are you still a Nit?" one of the boys asked, mentioning the name of a notorious teen-age gang Horton had belonged to.

"No, I'm not any more," Horton said, and started to walk away. He recognized the others as members of a rival gang, the Robins.

The other boys jumped in front of him and laughed. "Once a Nit, always a Nit," they said. "Nobody smooths."

"If you bother me," Horton said, "I'm going to rat."

"Not if we kill you first," the Robins shouted. One of them swung a heavy club at Horton, but he ducked and the blow only knocked his hat off.

Horton ran. He ran straight to the authorities and poured out an incredible tale of organized kid gang warfare among Brooklyn's youngsters. The police, under the direction of Assistant District Attorney John E. Cone, had long been investigating the critical situation.

Horton gave them the story of the gangs' workings, the names of the leaders, the places and dates where gang fights were already scheduled, the truth about girl auxiliaries.

(The name "Freddie Horton" is, of course, fictitious. He is in danger of his life from revengeful gang members.)

When the two Robins had warned Horton that "nobody smooths," they were using gang terminology for "nobody quits." And, as Horton's story made shockingly clear, they were right.

Outgrowing the gang is a virtual impossibility—the members simply graduate into a kind of "active alumni," coaching the younger boys and continuing gang warfare and, often, organized crime on a grown-up scale. These alumni groups call themselves "Big Nits" or "Big Robins."

Children of about eight are accepted into the gangs' younger branches, called "Baby Robins," for example, or sometimes "Juniors" or "Cubs." The gang, therefore, serves as a focal point for the growing boy. He starts as a Baby, moves on (in some gangs) to an intermediate classification, then to the gang itself and, finally, to the alumni.

Even a term in prison or reform school doesn't break up the gang tradition. Cone has learned that New York state penal institutions have virtual alumni groups behind bars. Nits still fight Robins in jail.

Sex is apparently no bar to membership. All the gangs boast girl auxiliaries, who usually call themselves "Robin Debs" or "Robinettes."

The girls serve a useful purpose to the gang organization. During street fighting, the girls carry the weapons. Policemen are reluctant to search them; the girls scream that they are being molested.

So the boys head for the fight—planned in advance—and the girls bring the guns and knives and bricks. They hand them to the boys, and pick them up again after the brawl is over, or when the police arrive. The girls also furnish alibis as needed, saying the boy involved was with them at the movies or a dance.

Initiation ceremonies into some gangs, Horton said, include intimacies between boys and girls.

Names of the gangs, in some cases, have been handed down for three generations. Among the more powerful Brooklyn street gangs are the Nits, Robins, Beavers, Brewery Rats, Commanches, Gestapos, Jolly Stompers, Socialistic Gents and MacNasties.

Many of the gangs wear special clothes to distinguish themselves. Usually it is a unique type or fancy colored hat. But one gang wears heavy, studded belts, which have been found to be handy in a fight.

Most of the gang members spend most of their time in relatively harmless pursuits. They go to the movies or dances or "bop sessions" or just "shoot the breeze" in their hangouts—usually a pool room, candy store or abandoned building.

But gang warfare breaks out sporadically—not in just a healthy scrap, but a fight for keeps. One favorite fight tactic is "stomping"—getting a rival on the ground.

and jumping up and down on him.

The Brooklyn East Detective Youth Squad lists these weapons confiscated from youths participating in gang activities: "Pistols, 14; rifles, 1; home-made guns, 7; bayonets, knives, 85; hatchets, 2; black-jacks, 2; metal knuckles, 2; metal belt buckles, 18; metal-tipped canes, 9."

In the last year, 11 boys have been killed during gang wars in New York City. And countless more have been injured, some permanently.

Horton told police that a few new gangs were making their presence felt in Nit and Robin territory, and that the old-established gangs were getting ready for a renewal of large-scale warfare.

On Decoration Day, Horton said, there is usually a big gang-fight at Prospect Park on a pretty green hill, topped by a statue.

The boys call the place "Massacre Hill."

Botanists discovered on the Hawaiian Islands nearly 700 varieties of plants that are found nowhere else.

The poet Shakespeare himself most often signed his name as "Shapspeare" according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Issue Terse Warning To Jap Commies

Eight Japanese To Trial For Attack On U. S. Soldiers

TOKYO, June 1—(AP)—American occupation officials, warning the Communists to "behave or else," Wednesday rushed eight Japanese to trial for physically attacking U. S. soldiers at a Red rally.

Even as the eight went on trial in occupation court, 200 Japanese students and workers milled outside the court building. They screamed demands for their comrades' release.

Flee When Police Appear
They fled when Japanese and U. S. military police moved out against them. Then they surged back repeatedly, their shouts echoing in the courtroom. They dispersed before the court recessed near midnight.

Police all over Japan were alerted for new outbreaks of Red violence expected Saturday. The Communists are expected to demonstrate and try to influence Sunday's election for the upper House of Parliament.

The grimmest was apparent at General MacArthur's headquarters. The beating and stoning of five American soldiers yesterday was regarded as a Communist test and more violence was expected.

"The Communists had better behave," said one official.
Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, MacArthur's intelligence officer, was more specific. Commenting that he had ordered the court convened immediately after the outbreaks, he declared:

No Delay In Trial
"We do not intend to permit any delay in the trial of people who defy or take action against Americans in uniform."

Willoughby said he thought the Red demonstration, which produced the first physical attacks on U. S. troops under the occupation, was coordinated closely with the Communist demonstrations in Berlin.

The eight Japanese entered pleas of innocent to charges of assaulting the Americans and disobeying occupation orders. They face prison terms of 10 to 15 years and fines of 75,000 yen (about $208).

Pushed Corporal Violently
Cpl. Henry K. Yamashita of Honolulu said the trouble began at the Imperial Plaza when he tried to recover notes of rally speeches which demonstrators seized from a Japanese policeman. He said the crowd pushed him violently.

Sgt. Peter W. Koehn of Oklahoma City said when he tried to arrest a Japanese he was tripped and fell. While down, four or five others leaped on him, kicked him in the stomach and hit him in the mouth. A rock struck him on the head and dazed him.

Beatrice Food Co. Held Banquet

The Beatrice Food Co., Wednesday night, held its annual service emblem banquet at the Bothwell Hotel, at which time thirty-two employees were presented their awards for service from five to twenty-five years. Two employees received their twenty-five year gold pins, set with a diamond, Orson A. Potter, salesman, and Clarence H. Bail, shipping clerk.

Two received their twenty-year pins, S. G. Monsees, night foreman, Jesse D. Hamby, chief engineer. One fifteen year award, Howard A. Atkinson, Clinton plant branch manager, two ten years, Herschel J. Summers, of the mixing department and his brother Jesse L. Summers, freezer operator.

Twenty-seven other employees received their five-year gold lapel buttons.

Julian H. Bagby, manager, presided over the meeting and gave a talk speaking on plant sanitation and service award emblems. Mr. Bagby, an employee of the Beatrice Food Co. for nearly thirty years, made the presentation and reminisced on the past.

More Sentences On Hot Springs Man

TULSA, Okla., June 1—(AP)—A Hot Springs, Ark., man who already has received six felony sentences totaling 24 years must serve eight more years in prison, Federal Judge Royce H. Savage has ruled.

He pronounced the sentence after Eugene Smith, 43, pleaded guilty to three different charges.

Savage gave Smith five years on a charge he transported a stolen automobile from Nashville, Tenn., to Tulsa county and another three years on a charge he resisted arrest by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents after an automobile chase in Creek county last April.

On a charge of impersonating FBI agents, transferred here from Memphis, Smith was sentenced to a year on each of five counts but this sentence was made concurrent with the other two.

U. S. District Attorney Whit Y. Maury told the court Smith had been sentenced in four forgery and two stolen car cases since 1928.

Congressional Blessing On Columbia Courtship

WASHINGTON, June 1—(AP)—Congress has given its blessing on the courtship of Harold Thurston of Columbia, Mo., and Miss Taeko Suzuki of Yokohama, Japan.

The Senate approved a House-passed bill which would permit 24-year-old Taeko to enter the United States as Thurston's wife. The last barrier to their marriage would be removed by President Truman's signature on the bill.

Thurston met Miss Suzuki after the end of the war in 1945. He returned home and was honorably discharged — but continued to write her. And then in 1948 he returned to Japan as a civilian employee of the Army and resumed the courtship.

Thurston is the son of Mr. and

Soon to Chief Speaking

Although Emery W. Allison, Rolla, has made some dozen speeches to date in his campaign for Democratic nomination and election as United States Senator, he does not expect to get into the main "speaking phase" of the primary until the latter part of June or early July.

Since March 9, when he started his campaign with a statement to the Mexico Ledger in which he declared himself strongly in favor of full federal action to stamp out all forms of interstate, syndicated crime, Allison has visited in 50 counties of outstate Missouri. His trip to Sedalia and Pettis county Tuesday night, Wednesday and Wednesday night made the fifty-first county in which he has worked since the first of March.

Allison officially opened his campaign at a rally in his honor given by the Phelps County Allison for Senator club Saturday night, May 20. The rally was attended by some 5,000 Allison supporters in the territory where he has been elected three times to the state senate. He is now completing his third term and was elected president pro tem of the senate in the last session.

Rated by impartial observers at Jefferson City as one of the ablest speakers in the state legislature, Allison said here he preferred to talk only when he is thoroughly familiar with his subject and has strong convictions to uphold.

Active in Politics

A country lawyer at Rolla since 1927 when he passed the bar examinations after studying by correspondence (he was too busy as a member of the house of the state legislature and as a country school teacher and supervisor of high school education in the state department of education to go to law school), Allison has been active in government and in Democratic politics since he was 26. At that age, after a horseback campaign through his native county of Maries, he was elected to the state legislature. He was reelected in 1922 and 1924, serving first as speaker pro tem and as Democratic floor leader in the house, the highest office to which he could be elected by his colleagues. In the senate now as president pro tem, Allison holds the highest office in that body.

Happy in Support

While in Sedalia, Allison said he is enjoying the campaign thoroughly. Asked how he felt about the backing of President Harry S. Truman and Governor Forrest Smith, he said, "I am happy to have that support, of course. But only the people can make a United States senator. I want to meet just as many of the Missouri voters as possible in both the primary and the general campaigns."

"It will be a big job, almost impossible, of course, but I would like for the people of Missouri to know me just as well as my people in the twenty-fourth senatorial district know me. I want to know all of the people of Missouri."

"After serving six years in the house and 12 years in the senate, I think I know some of the problems of Missouri. I want to represent the entire state in the United States senate, not just part of it, so I am carrying my campaign to every part of the state."

Allison said he hopes to visit at least 80 counties before the primary. When he starts his daily speaking campaign, he will back-track in many of the counties he is now visiting on the handshaking phase of his candidacy.

Asked what he considers the paramount issues of the campaign and if he expects to do much speaking on the need for federal action to clean up gambling and gang problems, Allison said: "I am no Johnny-come-lately in opposing crime and racketeering whether it is on a local level or an interstate level. In this campaign, long before the issue was considered important by others, I made a definite statement, widely quoted over Missouri, favoring full use of federal powers, both investigative and police, to stamp out syndicated crime."

"This menace to our society must be crushed, on a local basis where possible, on a national basis where the tentacles of the criminal organization crosses state lines. But I do not consider this the paramount issue of the campaign."

Budget Balance Aim

"On the domestic front, I consider the number one problem to be the balancing of the federal budget. In a period of great national prosperity, the government is spending more than it is taking in. Though we must maintain a large military force for defense and must carry a big burden for past wars and for aid to Europe, I believe we can balance the budget, start reducing the national debt and even reduce some taxes. This will not be easy but it can be done and I will discuss this matter throughout the campaign. And vote to balance the budget and cut taxes as the United States senator."

"In international affairs," said Allison, "world peace must be secured through stopping the march of communism. I favor the non-partisan foreign policy. I am a strong party man but party politics must stop at the water's edge."

"The United States senate today is the most important deliberative body in the world on matters affecting world peace, yet Missouri is mis-represented in the senate by two isolationist, obstructionist men who seem more interested in splitting legislative hairs than in working for world peace. No state today can afford an isolationist, obstructionist senator because one-third of the senators plus one under our Constitution, can destroy the hopes and aspirations of the people of America for world peace and international security."

After leaving Sedalia this morning, Allison went to Boonville and Cooper county for the day.

Old Timers Discuss Bits of The City's Early Progress

The film he put in the other way. It was turned around and they were all satisfied that it was the Jaynes place—definitely so, when the statues in front were pointed out—no other place had the large statues in front.

Shown too, on West Broadway were the F. E. Hoffman home, the Gallie home, which burned. Mr. Looney, then a kid skating near the home, saw the fire in the cupola and ran to tell Mr. Gallie about it. The Crandall home, never occupied by any other family and where Miss Stella Crandall still lives. Other homes were the Henry Pilkington home on Third and Prospect, owned by a locomotive engineer who ran on the narrow gauge; the Dean home, the Porter home and the Richey home, the little stone house on Osage that was said to have been built from the stone left over from the Congregational church, the original Cloney home, which is now the Hosford place at State Fair boulevard and Main street. And many other mansion dwellings which were the homes of the first Sedalians of wealth.

No Doubt on This One

One home of which there was not the slightest bit of doubt, was that of Cyrus Newkirk. W. M. Jones was sure of that. Pictured there was the iron settee on which he, proposed to Alice Newkirk and she must have accepted because she became Mrs. W. M. Johns. Mr. Looney agreed on the place, too. He remembered when Johns paid a quarter (which was then big money) to have a note delivered to Alice Newkirk.

Some Business Structures

Among the business places shown was the Grand Central store, which location is now Kresge's. It was owned by Frank B. Meyer, a bachelor and who, every Christmas, gave each of his customers a nice Christmas gift. He really had a big business, too, one of the old timers recalled. Then there was the LeGrande hotel, which stood where the post office building now stands and which a barber in the building bid $50,000 for when it was to be torn down. The bid was in fun, but he got the building. Then he discovered he had to tear it down and get it away and that would cost a lot of money. So, it being a time of depression and lots of shop men were not working and offered to tear it down for a dollar a day. The barber just broke even on the deal.

Another place was a building which stands today and was built in 1890. Ed McLaughlin stated it was built by his father, who was first in the 100 block on West Second street, then at Third and Lamire. And when Capt. Gold raised the rent he decided to build his own building. Capt. Gold said he would run him out of business, Mr. McLaughlin stated but added, "The building is still there and in the McLaughlin family."

View of the Old Court House

The old Pettis county court house was shown as was the fire which destroyed it. Two Sedalia men had a bet for a number of years which way the steeple would fall if there would ever be a fire. One of them won the bet but nobody remembered who. The inside of the steeple was of wood and that was where the fire started.

They also recalled the pictures taken by LaTour, photographer of the day.

A birdseye view was shown of Sedalia as well as scenes on Ohio avenue and from some old timer came a comment: "Looked better then than it does today."

The Pettis County Historical Society is attempting to obtain all information possible on early Sedalia and older residents of the town and those who have information handed down to them from their ancestors are asked to cooperate with the society by contacting J. L. Curry, 1801 South Barrett avenue. Notes on interesting happenings, funny incidents history of families, friends, old homes or buildings, romances, letters, pictures, anything that would add to the recording of the history of Sedalia and Pettis county would be appreciated by the Historical Society and will be taken care of by Mr. Curry until the records are made.

The compiling of such a history and the work carried on by the Pettis County Historical Society will cost a lot of money and the society is desperately in need of funds for its project. Anyone interested is asked to become a member of the society or help in the completing of an accurate and interesting history of this county.

Mrs. Frank S. Leach and Mrs. E. F. Yancey made short talks. Showing the slides was J. O. Jenkins.

C. F. Scotter is president of the society.

Rugged Battle to Bring About K. C. Centennial

Kansas City generally was slow to take to the Centennial idea. Some thought the money might be spent better for other things. Those in charge were busy pointing out that the money was contributed; it wasn't out of public funds.

Then there were the snide remarks. A few of the larger newspapers around about hinted Kansas City might be putting on the Centennial to offset bad publicity it had from gangland slayings, the latest of which claimed northside

This is it. Members please take notice. Visiting Master Masons are welcome. Francis C. Rudd, W. M. Ralph F. Boies, Sec'y.

Democratic Boss Charles Binnagio and henchman Charles Gargotta.

Actually the groundwork for the Centennial was laid a year ago by a small group of business and civic leaders, long before a federal grand jury delved into crime here and came up with five income tax evasion indictments and a report estimating a $34,500,000 gambling and rackets operation in Kansas City.

Fearful Indian Discard

The Indian troubles largely were of city council making. The city had been asked to put up $23,000 for an Indian village downtown as a side attraction. Hopis and Navajos were to be imported from Arizona.

Councilman Joe Nolan understood the two tribes were unfriendly; he feared the possibility of Indian troubles downtown. Another councilman, Harry Davis, raised the question of the Indians' cleanliness.

But now the Indians, all 54 of them, are here—and living in tepees across the street from municipal auditorium where Saturday the Centennial opens its billion dollar industrial exposition. They say it will be Kansas City's biggest display of its industry. The displays will cover three acres of floor space.

Hal Boyle COLUMN

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP)—This is the month in which there is nothing rarer than a day in. Good old June is back. So soon again? What are the months doing now—riding on horseback? The year turns faster than a merry-go-round. Time is doing a jig instead of a waltz. The universe is exceeding the speed limit. Why, if a man isn't careful, he'll find he's run out of June, used up his ration, before he knows it.

Wherefore, let every man pause and remember his June. For June won't come on forever, and no season lasts, and isn't it wonderful to see the girls again in their summer dresses? They put the tulips to shame.

June is the heyday of boyhood, as the poet said. Remember? School let out at last, and running from the building you whooped back into alto bravado: "No more pencils, no more books! No more teacher's sassy looks!" And the teacher smiled from the window, comfortably happy in the knowledge that for three months she didn't have to drum the multiplication table into the squirming minds of other people's runny-nosed children.

You never realized quite why mother sighed when you came home. It was no vacation for her.

Then came the thrill of putting away your shoes for the summer, the ecstasy of going barefoot again—the sting of hot pavement on tender soles, the delicious delight of squirting the warm dust of dirt roads between your toes.

And did any boy ever go through June without getting at least four thorns in his foot? Remember the agony as mother placidly dug out the sharp spikes with a needle, murmuring, "Oh, quit yelling. A body would think you were being murdered."

There was always the visit to your cousins in the country and the cruel jokes they played on you because you lived in the city. They'd have you milk the cow from the wrong side, so she'd kick or butt at you. Or at night they'd take you on a snipe hunt, leaving you standing for hours alone, holding an empty gunny sack behind a lighted candle and waiting for the mythical birds to flit across the light and into the bag. Remember the lonesome walk back to the house through the scary darkness, knowing you'd been tricked again? And somehow there just weren't any city tricks you could play on them.

I suppose these timeless pranks are being played on city boys right now in a thousand rural communities across America. But they didn't ruin June. Nothing can ruin June for a boy. It's his month to be free—free to swim and hike and run through the woods like a deer out of prison.

Somehow June isn't quite so wonderful when you grow up, is it? There are no summer vacations in the school of experience, and you can't play hooky just because June rolls around. It kind of embarras like meeting an old sweetheart.

Grownups chiefly use June as a month to marry in. But there's a limit to that, too. A man can't go barefoot or go marrying each June, as no wife would put up with that kind of nonsense, year after year.

But, all in all, a middle-aged man can still get some pleasure out of the month. His case isn't exactly desperate.

He can still enjoy the sunsets, he can look at the girls in their summer dresses. He can walk through the fields and hear the crickets and watch a bee interview a clover. . . and be homesick for the June of his childhood, when his heart spilled over with the pure wonder of being alive.

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP)—Every day we wake up to a new crisis. And don't think we have not got a grim one for today. It's this:

America is getting short of gimps. There are plenty of old gimps, but there aren't enough strong young gimps coming along. A gimp is a person who earns his living sewing buttonholes.

"There are only about 3,500 buttonhole makers left in this country, and most of them are old men," said John Maximilian Bappert, the Rembrandt in this field.

"The young people seem not interested too much in buttonholes. They seem interested in other things."

This is heresy to Bappert who recently was picked by a trades school here as the nation's outstanding buttonhole maker. His family sewed buttonholes or three generations before him in Hungary.

Bappert, a quiet, stocky man of 42, came here at the age of 13. He figures that in the last 29 years he has made 13,920,000 loops with his needle in sewing about 348,000 buttonholes. He averages 12,000 buttonholes a year. "I do not find it dull," he said. "People think there is nothing to it. They say, 'What is a buttonhole? A buttonhole is nothing.' But it takes years of work to learn to make a buttonhole right."

Congressman Dies

Bappert supervises 18 gimps in the buttonhole department of Stuaarts hand-tailoring firm. It takes him five minutes to make a 40-loop buttonhole.

He works without glasses.

"My eyes are good," he said. "I can read anything—even the small print on a check."

His buttonholes are strictly for coats and vests. In 28 years he hasn't seen a pair of trousers in his workshop.

"Ninety per cent of the trousers have slide fasteners or machine-made buttonholes," he said, "so they have nothing to do with me at all."

Despite the shortage of gimps, Bappert doubts that the fine old art of making buttonholes by hand will ever die.

"The machine-made buttonhole does not look so nice and neat," he said. "We need to teach the young people to make buttonholes."

Bappert also helps out with the sewing at home. His wife is an expert dressmaker, but he says she hasn't mastered the skill of making buttonholes.

So far it looks like I'm going to be the last one in the family in the business," he said sadly. "I have only a daughter. My brother, who is a barber, has four children. But they are all girls, too."

When he was a small boy, his parents despaired of making a Gimp out of him.

"They saw I was leaning to my left hand in playing games," he recalled. "They thought it was

Negro Shoots Wife Then Kills Himself

JEFFERSON CITY, June 1.—(AP)—O. D. White, 38 of Rolla, shot himself in the chest with a war souvenir pistol late Wednesday, after seriously wounding his estranged wife.

White was killed immediately, but a physician said Mrs. White, 31, probably would recover. Both are Negroes.

Otto Hildebrand, a policeman, said the shooting occurred at the home of Mrs. White's daughter, Mrs. T. T. Booker. The policeman said the Whites had been separated outrageous. They had never heard of a left-handed buttonhole maker.

"In Europe people thought it was terrible to be left-handed. So my family made me change to the right hand."

"And you know, in all the years since then I didn't see one left-handed buttonhole maker."

"There is nothing impossible, but I couldn't even imagine it—a left-handed buttonhole maker. How would he do it?"

ed and Mrs. White came here last week to visit her daughter.

Trophy Award For Rose Show

The staging committee, with Mrs. H. C. Sammons as chairman, will have the stage all set in readiness Thursday evening for the Sedalia Rose Society's Second Annual Rose Show which will be held Friday afternoon and evening at the Elks Club, Fourth street and Kentucky avenue.

Judges will be out-of-town members of the American Rose Society. Three ribbons will be awarded in each class. The gold, silver and bronze medal certificates from the American Rose Society will be given. The best, "The Queen of the Show," will be awarded a gold certificate, the second, silver and the third, bronze. These will be awarded at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

In addition to the awards the Sedalia Rose Society Perpetual Trophy will be given to the members of the American Rose Society winning the greatest number of points in the show. This is the first time this trophy has been awarded and it will be kept by the person winning it until the next show, then reawarded at each successive show. This trophy will be presented to the winner at 8:00 o'clock at the Elks Club Friday evening.

District Bar Meet June 10

The regular annual meeting of District 3 of the Missouri Bar, comprising the counties of Carroll, Cass, Clay, Jackson, Johnson, Lafayette, Pettis, Ray and Saline, will be held Saturday, June 10, at the Elms hotel, in Excelsior Springs.

Approximately 155 lawyers have indicated their intention to attend, together with several Supreme Court, Court of Appeals and Circuit Judges. Lawyers from Sedalia who plan to attend are: Earl L. Crawford, Harvey D. Dow, James E. Durely, William K. Gibson, Sam P. Harlan, D. S. Lamm, John C. McCloskey, George H. Miller, James W. Musgrove, Miss Hazel Palmer, Henry C. Salveter, F. F. Wesner, and Chester L. Wolfe.

The program has been arranged by Rufus Burrus of Independence and D. S. Lamm of Sedalia, members of the board of governors of the Missouri Bar.

The program will open that afternoon at 1:30 p.m. with four addresses, and questions and discussion periods in between.

The annual banquet will be held that evening at 6:30 o'clock with the principal speaker to be William Vaughan, of the Kansas City Star, who will take for his subject, "What to Do Until the Lawyer Comes."

Charged With Attempted Murder

LAWRENCE, Mass., May 31.—(AP)—A 36-year-old father was held for the grand jury in $20,000 bail today on a charge he attempted to murder his four children while pretending to play a game with them.

The action was taken against James M. Ryley in district court after he was declared sane by physicians at the Danvers state hospital, where he underwent a long observation period.

Ryley entered a plea of innocence.

Find Body After Over Two Years

SAN JOSE, Calif., June 1.—(AP)—The body of a 56-year-old construction worker, dead more than two years, was found today in the locked bedroom of his rural home. Officers arrested his brother and booked him for investigation of murder.

The dead man, Herman Boesen, 58, had lived the life of a recluse. His arrested brother, Peter, 62, lived in a shack 20 feet behind Herman's home.

Auto Licenses Are Now Due

City automobile and truck licenses became due today. Sedalia motorists have until June 20 to purchase their stickers and to place them on the windshield of their car. After that date, any Sedalia car operated without a sticker, will be subject to arrest, and fined.

Paul Albert, city collector, said that 1,200 stickers have been sold since they went on sale last month, and they expected to sell about 4,500 stickers for 1950.

The collector explained that many persons have come to the window, wanting to purchase a sticker, but had to be turned down at the time, because they failed to bring along with them certificates of registration or car titles.

The reason for bringing the certificate of registration or title, the collector pointed out, was to determine what horsepower the car had. If an automobile has less than 24 actual horsepower, then the sticker for that car will only cost $2.50, so that is why one must bring along with them, something to prove the horsepower of their car.

The registration or title is not needed if the car owner knows his automobile has a horsepower of over 24. The license for that style of car will cost $4.50.

Excavate For Liberty Statue

The first spadeful of dirt for the base of the replica of the Statue of Liberty, dedicated to the Boy Scouts of America, was turned about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, as officers of the Boy Scout Council and others watched at the northwest corner of the court house yard.

Doing the first excavation work was Contrator James Atkinson and his crew of men composed of Frank Edwards, Percy Shackles, Carl Stevens and Leo Botcher, along with three Boy Scouts, Richard Stohr, Duane Guymon and James Rouchka.

The sharpshooters used by the men cut through the rich black dirt along the ropes that made the outline of the foundation design. Wheelbarrows and a large truck were used to throw the dirt into. Later Cramer & Schrader and their men will take over completing the foundation, with the time and work of all working today and later being donated.

Witnessing the excavation were men who were responsible for the plans of the statue: Rev. A. J. Brunswick, president of the Pettis district of Boy Scouts; Harry Naught, Scout finance officer; William C. Wallace, architect, who drew the plans for the base; O. W. Wiley, vice president of the Pettis district; L. Lyle Brown, head of the extension of the council and Stansel DeFoe, scout executive of the Lake of the Ozarks.

Loses Life In Car-Truck Collision

PARIS, Mo., June 1.—(AP)—James M. Herndon, 86, was found dead last night after a car-truck collision in the south city limits of Paris.

A coroner's jury later found that Herndon had died of a heart attack before his car ran head-on into a truck driven by Clay Bryan Shrader.

Both vehicles were demolished. Shrader escaped with slight injuries.

Drag Lake For A Man Alive

COLUMBIA, Mo., June 1.—(AP)—Police and firemen dragged a lake just north of Columbia for hours this morning in belief that a man had been drowned there—then the supposed victim called the police and said he was safe at home.

Stanley H. Butler, 44, salesman for the John Seaton Foods Company of Chicago, told the desk sergeant at the police station that he "had had a little accident with my car."

Mystery Death Still Unsolved

JOPLIN, Mo., June 1.—(AP)—An inquest into the mysterious death of Miss Gwendolyn Creekmore in her Joplin mansion wound up last night without a verdict.

A coroner's jury, acknowledging it was baffled, adjourned until it receives tests of the vital organs of the 49-year-old woman, adopted daughter of a wealthy Oklahoman.

The burned and beaten body of Miss Creekmore, a divorcee, was found Sunday.

Lee Moxley, 43, a friend of Miss Creekmore, was released by police on orders of Dale Troutcut, prosecuting attorney. Moxley was given lie detector tests yesterday, but they failed to connect him in any way with her death.

Man Stealing Car Of Sheriff Escapes

Seaborn C. Sparks, 28, Tonganoxie, Kas., who was serving a five year prison term for stealing E. W. Goetz' automobile from Sedalia in 1947, escaped from a Missouri penitentiary farm Wednesday night.

Sparks was found guilty in the Pettis county circuit court on November 24 of car theft and was sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary. He drove away with E. W. Goetz' 1947 Chevrolet on November 8, 1947. Goetz, who was then sheriff of Pettis county, went to Arkansas after the arrest of Sparks in that state and November 14 of that year.

He was returned here for trial.

Body in River For 25 Days is Recovered

JEFFERSON CITY, June 1.—(AP)—Twenty-five days after Merrill Snell, 35, drowned in the Lake of the Ozarks his body was recovered, floating at the surface several miles from the scene of the accident.

The body was found yesterday near Bagnell dam which forms the big lake. Snell, a Jefferson City hoisting engineer for a construction firm, drowned in a strange accident May 6.

He and his four-year-old son, Mark, were riding alone in an outboard powered boat.

Then fishermen nearby noticed the boat making tight circles at high speed. They saw no one in the boat and rushed to the area.

The son was rescued but Snell's body could not be found.

Activities In The County Court

(Wednesday)

Court approved warrant 162 in class 3; warrants 31-57 in class 4; and warrant 74 in class 6, which was issued to Tommy Kindle for one old wolf scalp.

On that day the court appointed Frank B. Van Dyke as county highway commissioner for a term of four years.

The court authorized J. V. Kesterson to sign Project Statement Form C. A. 103 for King Bill Road Projects No. 30-2 to 59-13.

Slight Damage By Fire Wednesday Night

The Sedalia fire trucks were routed to 111 East Jefferson street Wednesday night to extinguish a blaze at the residence of Melvin Emerson, which amounted to about a $60 loss.

The blaze was believed to have started from fire in a waste paper basket which ignited a rug.

In this, the 190th firm alarm of the year, firemen used one pump bucket to extinguish the blaze.

Erratic Trend to Stock Market

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP)—Price currents were quoddy in the stock market today.

Closing quotations showed a thorough mixture of small gains and losses. During the day most leading shares bounced around erratically without getting far in any direction.

Some stocks, following through yesterday's sharp upward step, went better than most other groups although bending at times before profit taking operations.

Business tended to contract on the way down and expend on rallies. Turnover hit a rate of around 100,000 shares for the full session.

Among the gainers were Admiral, Emerson, Motorola, Montgomery Ward, Dow Chemical, General Electric, Standard Oil (N.J.), Texas Co., U. S. Gypsum and Bethlehem Portland Cement. Losers were General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Childs Co., American Telephone, Western Union, American Tobacco, Santa Fe Union Pacific and Dome Mines.

Corporate bonds were mixed.

Old Homestead City Bus Hits A Will Be Reopened Parked Truck

The Old Missouri Homestead located at Fifth street and Lamine avenue, which is owned and operated by Mrs. Oke L. Rice, will reopen for business tonight at 5:00 o'clock, once again serving as its specialty chicken and steak dinners.

Mrs. Rice has announced the engagement of a new organist-pianist for the permanent job of providing background music in the cocktail lounge and dance music in the dining room.

The garden which has formerly been used as the dining room has been converted into the cocktail lounge and the other rooms have been rearranged to accommodate a dining room.

The new organist is Milt Adler, popular radio and recording star, who was formerly with the Graeme Hotel in Chicago and who spent six years with the Chase Hotel in St. Louis. He will be playing every evening from 5 until 9 o'clock in the cocktail lounge and from 10 until 12 o'clock in the dining room where the patrons may dance.

The Homestead will be run as before with a staff of fourteen and no cover charge will be asked.

The new entrance will be on the Fifth street side.

The Homestead will be open from June until January. This procedure having started this year.

Mrs. Rice said that much work has gone into this opening and that she is sure the new arrangements will be more suitable to everyone.

City Bus Hits A Parked Truck

Bus No. 119 of the Sedalia bus lines was damaged to the extent of about $700.00 Wednesday night at 6:50 o'clock, when Andrew C. Smith, the driver, hit a parked 1937 Chevrolet truck belonging to L. N. Gross, 1223 South Engineer, which was at the intersection of Thirteenth street and Kentucky avenue.

Smith said that he was going about twenty miles per hour and that he looked when he came to the intersection and when he looked up again he had hit the truck.

Gross the owner of the truck said that the truck was parked and that he did not see it happen. No one was injured in the accident and the truck was only slightly damaged.

Smith posted a $25 bond to appear in police court.

Fred Williams Charged With Assault In Slashing

Charges of assault with intent to do bodily harm were filed in the magistrate court Wednesday afternoon by prosecuting attorney, William F. Brown, against Fred Williams, negro, who is accused of having assaulted Miss Viola Smith, negro, on the 24, of May.

Miss Williams was taken to the City hospital number two, May 24, and treated there by Dr. A. R. Maddox for cuts and lacerations, which she said Williams inflicted upon her.

Ford Car Badly Damaged In Wreck

A mid-state storage truck driven by Steve Gravitt, negro, 516 North Main street and a 1940 Ford sedan driven by Frank Vanderpool, Twenty-eighth street and Limit avenue were involved in a collision at the intersection of Third street and Kentucky avenue about 2:55 p. m. Wednesday.

The truck was slightly damaged on the left front fender but the car was considerably damaged on the front and was towed to the police station.

The driver of the truck said that he was half way across the intersection going west on Third street and the driver of the car stated that he was going north on Kentucky.

Neither of the drivers was injured.

Second Choice Murder Shooting

INDEPENDENCE, Kas., June 1.—(P)—Herbert Scott, 55-year-old Independence grocer, was shot to death in his store last night while three customers looked on.

Within three hours after the shooting Assistant County Attorney Tom Crossan filed first degree murder charges against Wade Griffin, 32, a sociology student at the Independence Junior college.

Griffin, a war veteran, was the former husband of Scott's sister. Crossan said Griffin signed a confession that he fired six shots from a German mauser pistol into Scott's body because of a long grudge with the family since he was divorced.

After the shooting, Crossan said,

Griffin walked out of the grocery trash box and walked to the police store, threw the weapon behind a station to surrender.

Home Game For Cubs Tonight

The Sedalia Cubs, rained out of two ball games during the past week, are keeping their fingers crossed for good weather and a dry diamond at Liberty Park tonight, when they meet the Kansas City Cash Barabain team at 8:00 o'clock.

Cash Bargain is one of the strongest semi-pro clubs in the Kansas City area, and their appearance tonight will be the first in this area. The team is managed by Joe Haas, who also plays with the team.

This will be the fourth home game of the season for the Cubs. In the three games played here, the Cubs have won one and lost two.

Jack Albert, Cubs' manager said he would send in the following Sedalia line-up against the Kansas City aggregation:

Tonight's game with Cash Bargain starts a long home stand for the Cubs.

Chiefs Win Game Over Jeff City

The Sedalia Ban Johnson Chiefs swamped the Jefferson City Ban Johnson leaguers Wednesday night under the lights at Liberty park by a score of 12 to 1.

The same pitcher for the Jeff City team, Nilges, beat the Chiefs two weeks ago at Jefferson City by a score of 4 to 3 in a ten inning spectacle.

The batteries for the two teams were: for Sedalia, Brown and Whitworth, later replaced by Nold; and for Jeff City, Nilges, later replaced by Buresmeyer, and Paschel.

Jeff City scored their only run of the game in the fifth inning when Buresmeyer got on base by error on Waters. Duewelle then sacrificed and De Brock singled in the run.

The Chiefs started off on their show of power in the first when they scored four runs on three walks, an error on Paschel, a single by Vilmer and a double by Whitworth.

In the fifth inning Ruffin and Walker scored two runs on walks after Ruffin stole two bases and Walker one and were sacrificed in by Waters.

The sixth inning yielded two more runs for the Chiefs by Vilmer and Whitworth, who scored on a fumble by the second baseman after Vilmer got a base on a fielders choice and Whitworth singled.

The last of the Sedalia runs came in the seventh but were triple tallies by Imhauser, Waters and Vilmer, who got on by a error on De Brock, a single by Vilmer, an error on Paschel a wild pitch and a walk by Imhauser topped by a single by Brown the pitcher.

Top hitter was Vilmer with two for three.

Tonight is The Night For Cardinals

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Memo to Brooklyn—beware the St. Louis Cards.

Cheeks still burn on the Cardinal bench at the memory of the May 18 horrors of Ebbets field. That was the day St. Louis blew an 8-0 lead and lost to the Dodgers, 9-8.

Strong men still blanch at the thought of Tommy Glaviano's three successive errors in the ninth inning. Glaviano and Manager Eddie Dyer never will forget it.

The experts wrote the Cards' obit the next day. They said it was the end of St. Louis as a pennant threat. In 1950, Brooklyn had landed a knockout blow at St. Louis morale. They never would bounce back.

Next time the Cards played a game they rallied with six in the eighth inning to knock out Warren Spahn and whip Boston. The next victim was the Phillies' Robin Roberts.

And so on, down the line. Since the black day in Flatbush they have won nine of 11, hotter than any club in the league. They left Brooklyn tied for third, three games out of first. Now they're second, one game behind Brooklyn.

Chance to Get Even

Tonight is the night. The chance to get even. They open a three-game series with the Dodgers at Sportsman's park. Don't say the Dodgers weren't warned. Old Cardinals don't forget.

This second western swing of the Brooks can be most important. By whipping St. Louis three straight at Brooklyn they turned back the Card threat for the moment. By sweeping the holiday doubleheader from the Phillies they repelled another threat. If they can get out of St. Louis with their lead intact, they may be able to pull away and take command.

The trip is important for Leo Durocher's New York Giants, too, in a different sort of way. The polo grounds wolves are howling for Leo's scalp although his contract runs through 1951. Going into tonight's two-night doubleheader at Cincinnati, the Giants are running a dreary seventh, nine games off the pace.

Phillies to Chicago

Chicago, still two games over the .500 mark, is first stop for the defeated Phillies who were knocked from first to third Tuesday. After Chicago, the Phils bump smack into St. Louis for three very important games.

Boston ends Pittsburgh, reeling under an eight-game losing streak. Ralph Kiner's home run production slowed down to a walk with only one in the last 10 days. If the Braves are to move in the race, now is their time with Sid Gordon back in the lineup.

American League box scores will be studied for the next few days to find the effects of the big Chicago-Washington deal.

The White Sox move into the white glare of the Yankee stadium spotlights for a night game with New York which has won 17 of its last 20. After cooling off Boston with a Decoration day sweep, Casey Stengel is in fine shape to open a long stand against the west. Eddie Robinson, coveted by the Yanks during the winter, is to play first for Chicago. Ray Scarborough and Al Kozar also are to be with the club.

Washington will parade its new stock—second baseman Cass Michaels, outfielder Johnny Osbrowski and pitcher Bob Kuzava before the home folks. Kuzava isn't supposed to start against St. Louis tonight but the others may see action. Both leagues had an open date yesterday.

Big Seven vs. Southwest in Track Meet

DALLAS, June 1—(AP)—The field was completed today for the fourth annual duel of champions—the Big Seven vs. the Southwest conference in track.

Forty athletes from the Big Seven and 34 from the Southwest will perform here Saturday night at the high school stadium with another glittering duel forecast. In three previous meets each conference has won once and there has been one tie.

At least eight meet records are expected to fall.

The Big Seven will have three men in each event but the Southwest will come up short in the mile, two-mile, 880 and broad jump.

Both the first and second-place milers in the Southwest conference meet—Julian Herring and J. D. Hampton of Texas A. and M.—are passing up the meet here, thus third-place Oliver Gatchell and fourth-place Tom Hardin, both of Arkansas, will be the Southwest's only entries.

The Southwest will have Otha Byrd of Rice and Lowell Hawkins of Texas in the half-mile but neither third-place Jim Hoff of Rice nor fourth-place Dick Brooks of Texas will compete here.

Indians Lose Doubleheader

By The Associated Press

Indianapolis, the American Association leader, was back home to play Louisville today after a rocky road trip which left the Indians with only a game-and-a-half lead over runnerup Minneapolis.

Minneapolis handed St. Paul its sixth straight defeat, 3 to 1. Bill Tynes held St. Paul to four hits, one of them a homer by Eric Tipton. Harry Tylor, who went the distance for the Apostles, gave up six blows.

Kansas City and Milwaukee battled 10 innings to a 0-0 tie before the game was halted to permit the teams to catch a train to the twin-cities. The blues got 11 hits, while the visitors got only two.

Toledo at Columbus was postponed by rain.

Tonight's schedule:
Milwaukee at St. Paul.
Kansas City at Minneapolis.
Louisville at Indianapolis.
Columbus at Toledo.

The Standings:
Indianapolis .25 13 .525
Milwaukee .20 12 .400
Louisville .21 13 .538 3/4
Columbus .18 14 .471
Kansas City .16 16 .500

Attendance In Baseball Is Dipping

NEW YORK, June 1—(AP)—Whether it's the weather, television or lack of ready cash, baseball attendance continues to dip.

Last year the average attendance for a major league game through April and May was 18,123. This year it's 15,714. That represents a 13 per cent decline.

At this date a year ago the two majors had drawn a total of 3,056,425 as compared to 3,928,509. This is a 22 per cent drop. However, the clubs have been able to play only 250 home dates this spring compared to 279 last year.

The St. Louis Browns are doing worse than last year when they wound up with only 310,000 for the year.

The Browns hit bottom for the year Monday afternoon when only 624 paid to see them play Chicago. It wasn't too much better for the holiday doubleheader that attracted 3,537. It looks like that $200,000 for Gerry Pridy and the $100,000 for Bob Dillinger and Paul Lehner will come in handy. But who are they going to sell next year?

Levis Drop Game to Houstonia Team

The Houstonia Merchants softball team defeated the Lamy Levis in a hotly contested Central Missouri League game at Houstonia Wednesday night by the score of 3 to 2.

Houstonia scored two runs in the third on two walks and a hit, and their other run was made in the sixth on a home run by Rissler, the centerfielder.

The Levis scored their first run in the fourth on a hit and an error, and the second run in the sixth. Evans led off in the top of the seventh with a triple and was called out at the plate on a squeeze bunt, which developed into a hotly decision.

Dick Axe, on the mound for the Levis, pitched a good game, giving up three hits as old Seivers, the Houstonia hurler, Swisher was the

Attempt to Speed-up Golf Players

By Gale Talbot

NEW YORK, June 1—(AP)—Plagued by increasing slowness of play, the U. S. Golf Association is in a state of mind to do something pretty drastic about the problem at the National Open championship at Merion next week.

There might be a summary disqualification or two, or at least
